Personal Use License - Wearable Belt Model

What can you do with the the Wearable Belt Model files?

Pretty much what you'd expect.

You can:

- Print as many copies as you'd like for your own personal use.
- Print them for family and friends.
- Give your prints away as gifts.
- Modify or customize the files for your own personal use.

In other words, if you want to print a model for your house and another one for Grandma, go for it.

What can't I do?

Please don't:

- Sell physical prints without purchasing a Widget KC Commercial Print License.
- Sell or redistribute the digital files.
- Upload the original or modified files to MakerWorld, Printables, Thingiverse, Etsy, or another website or marketplace.
- Include these files or parts of the designs in another digital product that you distribute or sell.

Basically: print them, customize them, and share the finished prints with people you know. Just don't sell the prints without a commercial license or redistribute the digital files.

Want to sell your prints?

Absolutely! Just look for the Commercial Print License at WidgetKC.com/shop for this model.

The commercial license allows you to sell physical prints online, at craft fairs, in local stores, or through your own business, subject to the commercial license terms.

One last thing: Downloading these files doesn't transfer ownership of the designs. The original designs and digital files remain the property of Widget KC LLC.
